Consider Major Changes In College Curriculum

Committee to Study Number of Hours Needed to Graduate, Too

A one-year halt in any curriculum changes at EMC has been approved by the college administration, it was announced last week, while a thoroughgoing study of the overall curriculum is made.

An eight-member committee will delve into several major areas and problems during the next 12-month period. Included in the study are —

1. A reconsideration of the present minimum number of hours required for graduation;
2. The question of the desirability of increasing minimum required hours on majors and/or minors;
3. Evaluation of present and future status of General Education content; and
4. Consideration of the number of required education hours in the various teaching curricula.

The eight-man committee, headed by Associate Professor Robert O. McWilliams, will also investigate the question of whether to eliminate the second minor, whether it's desirable or feasible to eliminate group requirements, and other problems relative to the "omnipresent problems of a tight curriculum."

Said the college announcement, "In addition to the intensive self-survey of curricula by the EMC faculty, an inquiry will be made into curriculum construction at other institutions."

The administration said a continued analysis will also be made of data obtained in a survey of the opinions and reactions of EMC alumni with regard to their academic training and the existing curricula arrangements.

Overflow Crowd Hears Cerf

by Jeri Madalinski

"Laughter is a healing gift—there is no sound more beautiful to me than a hearty belly laugh," quipped Bennett Cerf as he spoke to an enthralled standing-room-only audience at Pease Auditorium Tuesday evening on "Modern Trends in Literature and Humor."

In his exuberantly effervescent manner, he elucidated that a definite change is coming over American humor—a change that is not traceable, but one that is, nevertheless, the temper of the time.

"Humor is becoming more and more narrow, jokable items are becoming fewer and fewer, minority groups are becoming more and more sensitive," Mr. Cerf indicated.

Since morning headlines reflect the disillusioning state of affairs, since people are currently living in a time of permanent crisis, one must struggle to retain a sense of humor. One should find a bit of humor in everything he does, even in the most menial tasks, Mr.

Letters to the Editor

Echoes "Priscilla"

To The Editor:

Hoorah for Priscilla! Not only do I whole-heartedly agree with what she had to say, but I was very pleased to see that at last a letter was printed that really said something.

I have heard rumors that some members of the administration are a bit upset by the letter. Why should they be? Would they like to see only "letters to the editor" that are namby-pamby — always agreeing with the policies on this campus?

After all, what good is this newspaper if students can't voice their opinions even though they are controversial?

It seems to me that the paper is enough like a high school "gossip sheet" anyway! (I for one don't give a darn if John Doe got pinned to Mary Smith.)

Letters to the editor are useless if we cannot say what we feel.

Priscilla, II

Another Viewpoint

To the Editor:

Ironically enough, Priscilla's critical letter was printed on the same page as an article stating that Women's League is an organization which "turns gripes into workable realities."

Priscilla and every other student on this campus who gripes and who has not contacted a person or group who can alleviate the situation is not contributing one iota to a democratic way of life, or to her campus, dormitory, or her own life.

This past weekend a conference was held by our Women's League. It was not attended by many students from our own campus. One of the topics for discussion was "Housing Regulations." We didn't see you there, Priscilla!

Would you like to come to a league meeting on Wednesday night — they're open to all students, always — or to the advisory board meeting Tuesday evening. Perhaps you might inquire when your dormitory house council will meet. They, too, are open to any student.

Any of these organizations will be expecting you — if you want to turn a gripe into a workable reality.

We appreciate your letter, Priscilla.

Arlene Robinson

'No Sign Out'

To the Editor:

In part I agree with Priscilla's letter about dorm policies. However, I feel that there should be no sign-out procedure at all. Adult life does not or should not demand prompt schedules of in and outness.

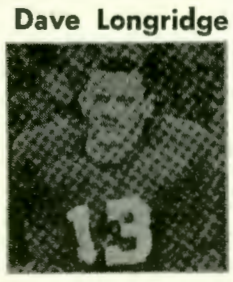
Hustlin' Hurons

Alex Klukach

ALEX KLUCKACH a senior from Hamtramck was named most valuable player for the 1958 football season. The 6' 1", 200 pound senior played one year at the University of Detroit before joining the Huron squad. Alex played on the defense as well as offensive center. Besides being the Hurons' "most valuable" player, he is also being considered for an All-Conference position. When asked about the award, Kluckach said, "I am proud of the honor and I would like to thank the men of this year's team."

Dave Longridge



Dave Longridge, a relative newcomer to the football squad, was chosen to be its captain for 1959. He is a 25-year-old junior who played high school ball at Fordson in Dearborn. He joined the team during spring practice last season. A veteran of the United States Navy, Longridge is a physical education major.

Pessemism Enshrouds Court As Basketballers Try to Forget

by Jerry Levin

On December 2 the basketball team will journey to Baldwin Wallace for the season's opener.

Wading through the periferal pessimism that shrouds the prospects of this year's team, one finds a more accomplished squad than that of last year. Dale Perky and second high scorer at Jackson J.C., for two years running will be a definite asset on the road back. Tom MacKenzie will have help on the boards with the return of Owen Sudman from the service. The 6'7" Sudman is a veteran of one of the more successful Huron squads.

Coming to us this year from Crystal Falls is freshman Fred Wolfer, a 6'5" forward. Don Greene, somewhat of a freshman sensation last year, along with Bill Stevens, returning from a year at the University of Michigan, should join the squad at midseason.

To say last year's squad had a bad season would rank high on the list of understatements of the year. Saying that the team has shrugged off this unfortunate fact would be unrealistic and most certaintly untrue. This is no secret to coach Skala or his players. Skala says, "The spirit is improved but some of the older fellows haven't shaken off last year's defeats."

The 3:30 to 5:30 gathering on the basketball court at Bowen is a study in contrasts. Ranging from Frank Manley's chant for .500 ball-to the advocates of "remember last year," unfortunate-

The basketball fans of this college have continued to turn out for games through many defeats. They are as much aware of the fact that we are in one of the toughest small college conferences in the nation as the players who have to cope with this obstacle on the floor. They are also aware that almost half of our schedule is against non-conference opponents.

While not expecting a conference championship against schools whose primary sport is basketball, fans do have the right to expect .500 basketball, or at least the desire on the part of their team to attain this.

Nothing is more warming to the cockles of one's heart than to hear one of our lettermen tell an optimistic newcommer," "Wait till you lose a couple; then see how hard you want to play."

'Skinners Head Independents

At the end of the touch football season in the Independent League the Muleskinners are in the lead with 36 points. Grosse Pointe is in second with 33, and the Brown Raiders are third with 30.

Puma's Best "Mudders" Slip By Eastern, 3-0

by Ken Balcoff

Eastern Michigan went down to defeat again last Saturday to end the season's football play. This time defeat came in the form of a sixteen yard field goal at 7:46 of the second quarter by St. Joseph's 201 pound end, Dave Beran. And so coach Fred Trosko finished his first losing season at EMC.

The game was played in mud caused by a driving rain which discouraged attendence as well as both teams. The effect of the rain was such that one punt during the game did not roll or bounce, but, rather, slid in the mud. Eastern and St. Joseph punted 13 times each, hoping to get the ball after a fumble, but the strategy didn't work.

The Puma's big ground gainer was fullback Mike Murphy, who picked up a total of 117 yards, 91 of these coming in the first half of the game. The Pumas as a team gained 194 yards without throwing a single pass.

The Hurons picked up 62 yards with 27 of these accounted for by passes. The biggest ground gainer for Eastern was fullback Brian Dunn, who totaled 30 of the Huron's 35 rushing yards.

EMC failed to get any sustained drive underway, their deepest penetration being St. Joseph's 35 yard line. The Hurons started to move late in the fourth quarter as they took a punt on their own 49. After Sam Holloway lost five yards on the first play, Al Day picked up three, moving the ball to the Huron 47. Dave Longridge then completed a 13 yard pass to end Charlie Shonta on the Puma 40 for a first down.

At this point the small crowd began to ask for more and the Huron team started to show a little spirit that was lacking earlier in the game.

On the next play Day slashed for three yards and Holloway followed, sliding for two more to the 35. Then Longridge attempted a quick pass over the line. The pass was picked off by a Puma tackle, Vic Roos, snuffing out the spark that might have turned the game into an Eastern Michigan triumph.

Detroit Pistons Announce Bargain For Students

Effective with Friday night's game against Syracuse at University of Detroit Memorial Building, students from any college in the United States will be admitted to Detroit Pistons home games at a special student rate, General Manager Nick Kerbawy announced today.

Under the plan, students need only show their college identification cards at the Pistons office in Olympia Stadium, or when games are played there, at the U-D box office to receive an exchange ticket entitling them to reserve seats at just 90 cents. Both offices are open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily and until the opening tip-off on game days.

"We have talked this plan over with numerous college and university officials," Kerbawy states "and they have endorsed the idea 100 percent. Most students cannot afford to pay top prices for our games and this is one way they can see the best in basketball at a reasonable rate."

Choice seats will be available on a first-come, first-served basis, Kerbawy adds.

Huron Highlights

by . . . . Bill Forster

There has been much dicsussion on the subject of football "parley" cards throughout the last month. Of course, the sensationalism of the exposure of seven University of Michigan students along with one individual from Eastern was overplayed to a great degree via the method of exposure used.

Many declared, and justifiably so, that these individuals were being victimized by one of the worst possible crimes, public persecution before trial. This was twisted by the proponents of law and order as meaning that the college students were, in general, opposed to the establishment of justice.

Let it be said in defense of the students who vehemently hung in effigy the two Michigan Daily undercover agents that they were attempting a revolt against the public persecution of the guilty parties, especially the two Michigan athletes. However, in the state of Michigan, it is a well known fact that all forms of lottery gambbling are illegal. The most extreme action taken on this law was taken in the incident dealing with the Eastern Michigan student (who was expelled) as the case was presented in the Echo two weeks ago.

Certainly, the peddling of the cards will not cease with this action. It has been suggested that the state of Michigan should legalize this type of gambling as drinking was legalized after prohibition days. Along with the making these acts legal would go the assessment of a two or three cent tax per dollar. This would, without a doubt, assist in alleviating the state's present economic situation.

The advocates of this plan claim that it is the only way if we are to advance with the progressive movements of society today. However, this individual remembers only too well the basketball scandals which hit the country in the early '50's. This is what happens when finances are intermixed with sport. Nevertheless, it is the opinion of many of those who are in sports today that money (even at an amateur level) is much more important than the fun which is supposedly primary.

WHY CAN'T SAM CRAM?

Poor Sam . . . here it is the night before that big Psych exam and he can't make head nor tail out of his notes. Oh sure, he took notes all year long, but he wrote them on the back of matchbooks, envelopes, the fly leaf of his textbook . . . everything that was handy except a note book. We hope that next term he'll have enough sense to be well supplied . . . it's so easy when the book store has plenty of ring binders, filler paper, spiral pads . . . in short, everything you need to make your school work easier.

Deadline Set For Scholarships

Financial assistance for EMC students is available through the Student Aid Foundation of Michigan, and applications for this assistance are available in the Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs.

The purpose of the foundation is to give financial aid to students who show promise of outstanding achievement, but are unable to meet fully the expenses of a college education.

Other qualifications which the foundation takes into consideration are personality, soundness of character, social consciousness, leadership potential, and work experience.

Students eligible for the scholarship grant are those in their freshman and sophomore years. Upperclassmen are eligible for loans administered by the foundation.

More information, as well as the application blanks, may be acquired at the office of the Vice President for Student Affairs; the deadline for returning applications to the foundation in Detroit is December 1.

Cerf emphasized.

Bennett Cerf, who almost instinctively felt the pulse of the campus, chuckled when asked if he has heard the current "morbid" jokes, "There are only forty or fifty standard jokes. We can trace most of them way back to Aristophones, Homer, and to the Bible. All jokes are from the same basic material. A slight twist here and there makes them sound new."
